BRANCH HYGIENE SOCIETY IS FORMED IN PENDLETON

meetings testified to the interest local citizens have in this important matter and that they were impressed by the startling facts related to them, to many for the first time, was evidenced in the general demand for the pamphlets which the society is sending out gratis upon application.

W. L. Thompson presided at the evening meeting and introduced Dr. Smith as the first speaker. He spoke upon the prevalence and general seriousness of venereal diseases, and the condition in America as revealed by his speech was appalling. For instance he quoted statistics showing that 250,000 people die annually in this country directly or remotely from venereal diseases, as many as are claimed by tuberculosis. The crime of it is, he said, that society is doing everything it can to stop the depredation of tuberculosis, which attacks people through no fault of their own, while it is doing practically nothing to lessen the awful toll of the "red plague" which originates in vice and is preventable.

He appealed to the fathers to give their sons proper education in sex matters so that they would not have to learn these matters on the street corner and secure misinformation which may blight their whole life. Statistics show that over 50 per cent of the men of the nation are contaminated by venereal disease and that the percentage of men in the U. S. army and navy so afflicted is greater than in any other army or navy, five times greater than in Japan and eleven times greater than in Prussia. He attributed the great prevalence of the disease in this country to improper education in sex matters and the lightness with which the ordinary man and boy looks upon a disease of this character because he has heard told that "it is no worse than a bad cold."

Dr. White spoke on "Sex Lies" and in this connection delivered a bitter arraignment of the quack doctors who advertise cures for these diseases and commercialize men's ignorance. Through the law passed by the last legislature, these quacks have been put out of business in Oregon, he said. He seconded Dr. Smith's appeal for parents to give their children proper education in sex hygiene in order to save them from physical and moral assignation. His speech was energetic and bristled with pointed facts which, he said, parents could no longer ignore. "You people become alarmed at a typhoid epidemic or a smallpox epidemic and you give the authorities every aid to check it," he said, "yet you do but little to keep this red plague out of your homes."

Supt. J. S. Landers, without mentioning names, told of some things which had come to his personal attention here in Pendleton which indicates that this city, like all others, is suffering from the evils of sex ignorance. Bringing it close to them, he aided greatly in impressing upon the fathers present the gravity of the situation.

Supt. Landers also took occasion to defend himself against the charges which he alleged had been made against him for alleged use of his position to induce high school students to attend the revival meetings being conducted here. He told what he had said to the students and what he is credited with having said, declaring he had been misquoted and stated his readiness to resign his position if any large minority of the people thought he had acted wrongly.

Circuit Judge Phelps touched briefly upon the results of sex ignorance as manifested to him during fifteen years of dealing with criminals as police magistrate, district attorney and circuit judge. He declared the people of Pendleton have a responsibility toward the children of the community which many are shirking. In conclusion he made the motion that the present committee be made permanent and increased from five to seven members. The motion carried and thus Pendleton will have a working society for the dissemination of knowledge of six hygiene.

Still in the Race

Despite the fact that J. N. Burgess, present incumbent, has declared his intention of seeking re-election, Frank Sloan, prominent Stanfield republican who some time ago declared his candidacy for the republican nomination for state senator, is still in the race. "After heeding the wishes of his friends at a time when it was thought Mr. Burgess would not run, he is not willing to turn them down now. This much was gleaned from a visit to Pendleton today.

It Pays to Advertise

Some time ago the East Oregonian printed a news note that Stanfield's Commercial club was trying to secure a blacksmith and a druggist for that town. As a direct result the town now has a blacksmith and a good one, Charles E. Miller, a relative of Herman Peters of this city, who is in St. Johns. He communicated with the Stanfield people and was soon established in a shop in the Furnish project town. But Stanfield still is looking for a druggist.

Many Made Reservation Trip

About 75 Pendleton people accompanied Evangelist Bulgun to the Umatilla reservation yesterday afternoon, the crowd going out in automobiles and in the Penland auto truck. Rev. Bulgun first visited the agency chapel where he spoke to the Indians gathered there and then proceeded on to the Umatilla mission where he addressed the Indians gathered in revival meetings there. At the latter place, addresses of welcome were made by Allan Patwa and James Hays in behalf of the other Indians.

Change in Mail Route

After July 1 the star route to McKay postoffice will run from Pilot Rock to McKay instead of from Pendleton to McKay. The change is made because the distance from Pilot Rock to McKay is less than the distance from Pendleton to McKay and therefore a cheaper bid was secured. After July 1 the McKay mail will go to Pilot Rock by train and from Pilot Rock to McKay by stage. As the service is an every other day service and the stage will leave Pilot Rock after the arrival of the train from this town

Style Show Well Attended

Pendleton's first "style show" conducted this afternoon in the Alta theater by The Peoples Warehouse, Wohlenberg's Department Store, and the four millinery stores, is proving quite a popular institution. Many ladies were in the theater by two o'clock when the show commenced to note the latest styles in spring garments and Parisian headgear. At 3 o'clock the theater was crowded.

Building Activity Renewed

With every evidence of spring at hand, building activities in Pendleton are commencing again in earnest. Yesterday four different permits were issued. Sam R. Thompson secured one to construct a $3000 bungalow on North Main street, Mrs. Birdie Oliver one to build a porch and a two room addition to her dwelling, 612 Maple, at a cost of $600, C. J. Matlock one for the construction of a new kitchen to his water street home at a cost of $500 and Mrs. W. P. Temple one for the building of a $500 garage at her home on Lewis street.

There's No Place Like Home

"There are only two cities in the United States, Pendleton and New York." With this statement Charles Reed, who arrived home this morning after seven weeks of travel over the map of America, dispels the delusion that there are quite a number of live commercial centers in this broad commonwealth. During his absence he visited all of the places of alleged importance from the Atlantic to the Pacific and little, old Gotham was the only burg that ranked in his estimation with his home town. He was accompanied on his travels by Harry Gray, another local merchant, but the latter is spending an extra week in San Francisco before returning home.

Motions Are Denied

Circuit Judge G. W. Phelps has denied the motions of Water Commissioners Will Moore and Marion Jack to strike out certain portions of the complaint filed against them in the quo warranto proceedings undertaken by Judge S. A. Lowell to oust them from the commission. Their motions were for the striking out of those portions that referred to the two commissioners other than themselves, Dr. J. A. Best also being named as a defendant. Granted, the motion would have necessitated separate cases against each. In denying the motions Judge Phelps cited the Oregon laws and gave his opinion that none of the commissioners were injured by reason of being made defendants in the same suit. Each is entitled to make separate answer and these answers will probably be filed by Monday.

P. H. S. Wins Double Header

Pendleton high school won a double victory last evening when the girls' team administered decisive defeat to the girls of Watsburg high school, and the boys defeated the picked town team. The score in the girls' game was 21 to 10 and indicates pretty well the comparative merits of the two teams. The local girls were at no time in danger and clearly outplayed their opponents. The picked town team was mostly made of high school players, Hauser and Sturdivant being the only two regulars present, and the victory of the P. H. S. team was rather easily earned. The score board read something like 30 to 15 at the end of the contest. The following were the young ladies who represented Watsburg: Grace and Lola Stonecipher, Helen Diehl, Mildred Tabor, Hoberta Houtchens, Nellie Keiser, Adelaide Rutledge and Hazel Wagner.

Desires Name Changed

Mrs. Edith Cook, the divorced wife of Charles Cook who on Nov. 1 of last year shot and killed Dave Rowan and then committed suicide, has petitioned the county court to change her name from Cook to Rowan, stating that but for the murder she would have borne the name of Rowan as the wife of the man who was shot down by her ex-husband. Judge Maloney has set April 11 as the date for the hearing of any objections to the change of name. Mrs. Cook, in her petition, sets forth that she was duly divorced in 1912 from Charles Cook and was engaged to be married to David Rowan at the time of the latter's tragic death and that the marriage was to have been celebrated within a few days. Because of the mad act of her ex-husband, she relates that the name of Cook has grown very objectionable and distasteful to her.
